COMMON COUNCIL.

$25,000 for the Purpose of Remodelling the City Mission have never been so unthe Gas-Works Adopted—The End of the tiring in their efforts to canvass the city the Gas-Works Adopted-The End of the Gas Cuestion for the Present.

A called meeting of the Council was held A called meeting of the Council was held vesterday evening at 5 o'clock—present, Mr. Ellyson, president, and the following members: Messrs. Adams, Allen, Archer, Bahen, Bowie, Campbell, Clarke, Curtis, Ellett, Frischkorn, Gunn, Hargrove, Hayes, Higgins, Hughes, McDowell, Metzger, Patton, Phillips, Pizzini, Randolph, Rose, Straus, Turpin, and Weisiger.

The Chair announced that the business for which the Council had been called to.

for which the Council had been called to gether was the consideration of an appro printion of $25,000 for the remodelling of the gas-works, as passed and amended by the Board of Aldermen.

The clerk rend the resolution as amended, and which has before been published in full in these columns.

Mr. Frischkorn moved its adoption.

Mr. Bowie moved an amendment striking Mr. Bowie moved an amendment striking out the penalty imposed upon the Committee on Light requiring them to resign if they did not come up to what they claimed. Mr. Bowie is a member of the committee, and looked upon the penalty as a reflection. He admitted that he did not undertand a member of the server penalty as a reflection. stand gas-manufacture.
Mr. Curtis seconded Mr. Bowie's amend-

Mr. Higgins explained that the author of the objectionable amendment to the appropriation resolution disclaimed any offensive intent to the committee. He had accepted the amendment in good faith. He believed that the gas could be made for the sum named, and for his part was willing to accept his share of the responsibility and hoped the Council would concur in the resolution just as amended. He said that not an hour could be spared, and he hoped that no obstacle would be thrown in the way of the committee. They wanted to advertise for bids to remodel the works, and wanted to go to work at once.

Captain Phillips said, as a member of the Committee on Light, he was willing to accept the amendment, and if they failed to do what they promised he would resign.

Mr. Turpin thought the amendment insulting to the committee, but as the com-mittee seemed satisfied he was willing to swallow it, and especially as the author of it seemed to have the Council in a corner.

Mr. Curtis thought it a dangerous precedent, and was opposed to the resolution. Mr. Higgins reminded the Council that Mr. Curtis more than a year ago had asked for an appropriation to improve the gas-works, and said that the need was greater now than ever for the improvement. The consumption of gas was much greater now than ever, and facilities poorer.

Mr. Higgins read various extracts from the minutes of the Committee on Light, setting forth strongly the need of work on the gas-works, enlarging capacity, &c. using Mr. Curtis's language, Mr. Higgins said he did so because of the fact that Mr. Curtis had at this time used language better than he (Higgins) could command. He was willing to take all the responsibility. Mr. Curtis orated in reply, while the Council smiled at the thrust that Mr. Higgins had so quietly and foreibly given the Mr. Curtis called for the ayes and noes on Mr. Bowie's amendment, and the vote stood as follows:

AYES.—Messrs. Adams, Allen, Bowle, Curtis, Hayes, Randolph, Straus, and Ellyson—S. Nogs.—Messrs. Archer, Bahen, Campbell, Clarke, Ellett, Frischkorn, Gunn, Hargrove, Higglis, Hughes, McDowell, Metzeer, Patton, Phillips, Piz-zini, Rose, Turpin, and Weisiger—18. Mr. Clarke said the objectionable amendment amounted to nothing, and was willing to accept it, because the urgency of action was too plainly apparent.
